Shakespeare Monofilament has been making nylon monofilament for over 30 years in our factory in Columbia, South Carolina. Our WonderThread and Whispertouch lines are known throughout the industry as the standard to follow. The softness, strength, uniformity and consistency of SN-40, SN-38 and Whispertouch are unsurpassed in the industry. Sewing factories and workers insist on the quality products produced by Shakespeare. In addition, Shakespeare Monofilament produces industrial monofilaments of nylon, polyester, polypropylene, PEEK, PPS and alloys. Shakespeare produces a varied line of nylon resins that are used in their products. One such monofilament offered is a low-melt, fusible sewing thread and yarn. Elastomeric monofilaments are also available. Shakespeare Monofilament sewing thread is available with ultra-violet resistance which greatly increases the life of the nylon when exposed to direct sunlight. Our products are sold world-wide and are available in your area. Please feel free to call or write for information:
